Reflection:

We are all very well acquainted with the story in today's Gospel passage. We all know about the three men who were entrusted with the five, two and one talent. And we all know about how the first two men went off and traded and doubled the sums they have been given. And then there is the man who had been given the one talent. He went off and buried it and gave it back to the master on his return when he sought an account of the stewardship of his property. The lesson is that we have an obligation to make the most of our God given talents and avoid a lazy coasting through life.
