Reflection: Where do we put our energies and what are our priorities? If we were honest with ourselves, we would admit that the pressures of everyday life tend to take up most of our time. We are all concerned about work, paying bills, our family, deadlines and calendars. Our lives tend to be so busy that our immediate goal is to get through one day at a time.

Perhaps this gospel is asking us to think about what we possess and what possesses us. Are we busy trying to maintain a life style rather than a create a quality of life for ourselves? This may mean that we buy and accumulate less and settle for fewer possessions. Rather than just ask what we do own and what belong to us, we could ask to whom we belong. We come from God and belong to God. Our true happiness, sense of meaning and true worth comes from our relationship with God. If we could really appreciate this fundamental truth and make more room in our lives for God and then we would gain everything – the fullness of life.
